Numbers! Numbers! Numbers!

Did you know that: The AMC is the nation’s oldest outdoor recreation and conservation organization, founded in 1876 by 34 outdoor enthusiasts. That New York was the 1st chapter, founded in 1912. That SEM chapter was created in 1976. That our SEM (SouthEastMass) chapter is 1 of 12 in the AMC club. That the club is managed by a Board of Directors (4 officers, 19 directors) and paid staff located in Boston at 5 Joy St. (which is why we call them “Joy Street”). That the club is guided by “Vision 2020” which is based on 5 strategic initiatives. That AMC’s Board of Directors has the goal of building a community of 500,000 constituents and helping to get 500,000 kids outdoors. That the AMC has 16,000 volunteers, with our own SEM volunteer leaders making up part of that total.

SEM has 3000 members, Boston has 23,000 members and Mohawk-Hudson (NY) has 1,000 members. That NY and NH have 12,000 members. We’re neither the biggest nor the smallest; we are a nice size. And we have great summer programs going on (thanks to our tireless volunteer leaders).

July is hot, but the trails are shady, the waters are cool, and the roads are breezy. So, get outside!

I’LL BE OUTSIDE ON THE TRAILS THIS JULY!

INTRODUCING THE AMC SEM 100-MILE HIKING CLUB

Log your miles; earn an awesome patch!

Based partly on the success our the SEM Biking Committee’s “2,000-Mile Club” and the New England hiking community’s popular “4,000 Footer Club, the SEM Hiking Committee has just initiated an “100-Mile Hiking Club” for SEM members who get out on the trails regularly with the club.

Membership is open to any SEM member who, starting on July 1, 2013, hikes at least 100 miles with the SEM and/or any other AMC chapter and remembers to log those miles along with the date hiked and location on our online spreadsheet linked to the SEM Hiking page on www.amcsem.org.

To get your name included on the online spreadsheet so you can record your miles hiked with the AMC after July 1st (using the honor system), just send an email to either hikingchair@amcsem.org or hikingvicechair@amcsem.org.

Hikers that complete the requisite 100 miles of hiking with AMC SEM will receive an awesome patch!
Welch-Dickey Hike
May 14, 2013

Contributed by Len Ulbricht

This hike was one in the Tuesday morning conditioning series that Ken Jones and Luther Wallis run during April and May at the Blue Hills. This day was a special treat. The weather was absolutely perfect. A cold front passed through the previous day so we had sunshine, 50 degrees and a brisk northerly wind (note gloves and fleeces in photos) making the air crystal clear to take in distant views. And no black flies.

Welch-Dickey is a loop hike of 4.4 miles and 1800 feet elevation gain. Granite slabs cover most of the peaks so for modest effort one experiences obstruction free views of Waterville Valley and the Tripyramids to the southeast, Franconia Notch and associated peaks to the north, and even distant Monadnock to the southwest. The multi-hued greens of budding trees covering the valleys and the deep blue sky above made this an exceptional hiking experience. Try it.

Backpacker Magazine sponsors an annual Get Out More Tour to review the latest in backpacker equipment. The tour stops in various locations around the country and this year there is a stop at EMS in Newton MA on June 26 at 6 pm.

The Get Out More team is offering their seasoned advice via an in-depth, 75-minute seminar that will both inspire and educate. This informative and fun seminar will cover a range of topics including:

- Backpacking essentials
- The latest in gear and apparel
- Survival skills
- Trail-tested tips

Admission is FREE and participants will have the chance to win great outdoor gear and apparel worth hundreds of dollars. For more detail see backpacker.com

Wilderness First Aid Training

The fall SEM offering of WFA (Woofer as some call it) will be held November 9 & 10, 2013 at the Chapel Meeting House in Foxboro, MA. It is taught by a professional instructor from SOLO schools.

The WFA course runs 8-4 that Saturday and Sunday. CPR follows the Saturday session. Pricing is as follows: $145 AMC Member Price, $170 for non-AMC members. CPR is optional for additional $35.

This course covers back woods first aid for those hikers who want to be prepared should a medical situation arise when they are in a remote area far from a quick 911 EMT response. Whether one is hiking up north or out west, camping or backpacking away from populated areas, biking distant routes, paddling the hinterlands or backcountry skiing, accidents do happen and adverse health conditions do arise. This course teaches the skills necessary to identify and treat medical issues common to wilderness settings and to prepare for long term care scenarios. This emergency response training includes patient assessment, trauma, musculoskeletal and soft tissue injuries, splinting, environmental emergencies, animal and insect bites, and a variety of other topics. The course is a mix of classroom lecture and practical exercises. Both days are required to certify. WFA prepares you to treat and stabilize victims until professional help arrives, which could take many hours and perhaps overnight. If you venture into remote areas, whether or not you are an AMC trip leader, WFA will give you confidence you can handle that unexpected situation we all hope will never occur. To register or for further information, contact Barry Farnsworth, Education Vice Chairperson, at bfarns99@yahoo.com.

Hello fellow hikers.

Hikers with dogs are common, but some parklands don’t allow dogs on established trails. If you are thru-hiking the AT, for example, you are not supposed to bring your pet when you hike through Smoky Mountains National Park. It is wise to check beforehand and make proper arrangements.

Dogs on an extended hike with their master usually carry their own food and supplies. The dog in the picture on the left carries her own collapsible bowl, food, and a mat. The dog in the other picture, Danny, loves to run through brooks and streams, so he is equipped with a waterproof food bag.

On rocky terrain, claws and paws can get beat up pretty bad. To avoid this, on the rugged John Muir Trail, I saw dogs with “paw boots,” little leather booties velcroed around their paws. You can buy them at hiking stores.

Dogs give warnings of other animals and possible problems. Most of all, they are great company for a lone hiker. Who else would listen to your sermonizing?

PADDLE TRIP REPORT - Meeting House Pond to Little Pleasant Bay - June 1

By Betty Hinkley

Paddlers: George Wey, Paul Corriveau, Jean Orser, Vicki Blair-Smith, Joanne Snyder, Pat Carden

We set out on Meeting House Pond on an absolutely beautiful day. We went down the River and across open water to Namequoit River fairly easily. There were some wind gusts that persuaded us to keep close to the shoreline most of the time.

We went down the Namequoit River to Argy’s Pond. While on the River, a swan came in for a landing close overhead; big wings flapping, it sounded like a small jet. He landed in the middle of our group, and proceeded to look very angry; we gave him plenty of space (although it is a very narrow river).

We never saw a mate or babies, and he eventually drifted away, so not sure what his problem was.

We stopped at Namequoit Point for lunch, although that has signs posted saying that it is private; but we thought we might get away with it at this time of year. In fact, it is OK to be there if you have your feet in the water, so we were prepared to jump up and stand in the water if necessary.

In the end, nobody cared about our being there. We ate lunch, followed by Jean’s brownies, and felt blessed.

After lunch we rounded the point into Little Pleasant Bay and paddled along the shore to the conservation area and into Paw Wah Pond.

After that we turned around and made our way back to Meeting House Pond.

Aside from the swan, the only interesting bird we saw was an osprey diving for a fish.

We did see a few sailboats and several power boats, so summer is definitely upon us.

Thanks for coming; it was a great day to be on the water.
PADDLE TRIP REPORT - Bass River South - June 5

By Jean Orser

Paddlers: Jean Orser, Leader, Paul Corriveau, Co-leader, George Wey, Vickie Blair-Smith, Gary Robinson, Margot Fitsch, Pat Carden, Bill Fischer

At the Cove Road put-in everyone marveled at the calmness of the water. As we were anxious to start before the wind came up, we decided to paddle around Grand Cove first so we would see any latecomers when we passed the put-in on the way out. Along the way we saw a large nest on a raft with a sea gull and at least one baby gull. Seeing no latecomers we paddled south on Bass River into Horse Foot Cove, past the Bass River Marina and under the route 28 bridge to Winkle Point where we gazed at all the large yachts moored in the fingers. Just past the West Dennis Yacht Club five of us ventured under the Loring Ave Bridge to Weir Creek where the water level was much higher than usual and so we ventured under the Lighthouse Road Bridge which goes into Uncle Stephen’s Pond. It did look like we could go further up Weir Creek but we opted to return as no one knew how quickly the tide would go out plus it was after 12 (the usual lunch time). Along the way we saw an osprey in its nest and a beautiful snowy egret.

We landed on West Dennis Beach for lunch; there were very few cars in the lot probably because of the nesting plover restriction. One plover escaped from the designated area and strolled not too far from us. We headed out to Nantucket Sound looking at dredging equipment along the way. We reversed direction padding on the opposite shore passing Grand Island, the Yarmouth Windmill, under route 28 bridge, past Bass River Yacht Club and into Grand Cove to the put-in. Bill’s GPS showed we paddled 9.34 miles.

An exceptional day to be on the water.

PADDLE TRIP REPORT - Lewis Bay - June 19

By Ed Foster

Paddlers: Ed Foster - leader, Paul Corriveau, Bill Fischer, Lynne O’Riorden, Jean Orser

We launched from Mayo Beach in Wellfleet into a 12-14 mph wind from the southwest but quickly went around the harbor and pier into Duck Creek where the water was very calm. We paddled upstream past the marina, through the pilings of the bridge for the former Boston to Provincetown railroad and then under Uncle Tim’s Bridge. Since it was then high tide we were able to paddle all the way upstream through the channels in the marsh to Route 6.

Returning to the harbor we paddled around Chipman’s Cove and stopped at noon for lunch on a sandy beach on Indian Neck across from Mayo Beach. After lunch, the wind in Wellfleet Bay had not abated so some chose to go directly across the harbor to return home whereas the remainder paddled along the north shoreline of the Bay toward Great Island. We paddled against the wind but that made the return trip to Mayo Beach and the launch site with the wind at our back an easy paddle.

PADDLE TRIP REPORT - Duck Creek, Wellfleet - June 22

By Donald Palladino

Paddlers: George Wey, Bill Fisher, Jean Orser, Paul Corriveau, Gary Robinson, Don Palladino (Leader), Louise Foster, Ed Foster

Paddlers: Vicki Blair-Smith, George Wey, Al Phillips, Rona Robinson, Margot Fitsch, Louise Foster, Ed Foster, Betty Hinkley (Leader)

This was a really beautiful day. We launched at 10:30 and went counter-clockwise around Swan Pond (no swans) and then under the newly constructed Upper County Road bridge - completely different from the old bridge, easy to pass under even at high tide. Lots of construction at the Route 28 bridge, but still OK to pass under, except for fishing lines. We saw several white egrets, geese, and a couple of osprey, and a few kayakers. No paddle boats yet, but signs of life at that location. We got to the end of the river and heeded the warning that Margot had given us from her trip - the channel into the Sound has been seriously narrowed, and the outgoing tide doesn’t seem to have anywhere to go. If you got close to the breakwater, you were swept along, but then there was no water to go out to the Sound. Really need to do some dredging there. For the few who ventured out there, it was definitely a challenge to get back against the outgoing tide; physics is a wonderful thing, however, and in the end we all returned to the river.

We ate on the enlarged beach, next to the Plover homes. A brave seagull wandered apparently too close for comfort to the Plover territory (although not much closer than Ed and Margot) and the adult Plovers systematically nose dived the gull, who ducked at every attack. It was really funny to watch, and finally the gull decided he’d had enough and took off, and the Plovers followed him all the way to the opposite beach and continued to dive at him a few more times. We were happy that the gull took the heat for us. We returned up the river after lunch. A really nice leisurely trip.

Thanks for coming.
PADDLE TRIP REPORT - Childs River/Waquoit Bay - June 26

By Bill Fischer

Paddlers: Bill Fischer, Jean Orser, Paul Corriveau, George Wey, Gary Robinson, Phyllis Evanden, Ed Foster

The Day was very warm for June but the sight wind from the south west made for a lovely paddle. Once on the Childs River the pleasant conditions were very evident to all of us. We paddled down the Childs River to the SeaPit River and out into Waquoit Bay. We kept Washburn Island on our right all the way to Tim’s Pond. The tide was just deep enough to make the entry into the Pond and across to the portage path back to the Childs River. After a portage of about 50 yards we were back on the water. We had lunch at the beach at the end of the Childs River.

After lunch we paddled back up the River past the put-in and under Route 28 as far as we could go. Then it was back to the put-in for a total of 6.5 to 7 miles depending on the path taken. The route will be forwarded on a different e-mail as it’s provided by Ed Foster. Turned out to be a very nice paddle on a hot day.

Shoestring and Popponesset Bays - Short and Sweet or Fully Loaded

By Louise Riemenschneider Foster

Shoestring and Popponesset Bays offer a wealth of choices. Starting at exactly the same put-in, one trip can be very different from the next, depending on the tides, preference and the stamina of the paddler. Time of year is another big variable. A good starting point is the Town Way to Water on Santuit Road in Cotuit. There are other ports of entry, such as Pirate’s Cove or The Town Landing on Ockway Bay, both in Mashpee, but those require a resident parking sticker in season. Once on the water, the obvious route is south on Shoestring Bay toward Popponesset Bay and Nantucket Sound. Depending on the wind, hugging one of the shores may be a smart move. The two bays mark the border between the Towns of Barnstable and Mashpee and about a quarter of a mile from the put-in is “The Narrows,” which is the transition between Shoestring and Popponesset. Exactly where that boundary lies has been disputed by property owners in that immediate area. On the Mashpee side, is Half Tide Marina and its crowded mooring fields. Pirate’s Cove follows, and soon thereafter, the first decision point, the entrance to the Mashpee River.

This is practically a “no brainer” because the Mashpee River offers such an interesting spectrum of flora as it changes from a salt water ecosystem, through brackish water and finally to the fresh water source. The progression of plants reflects these changes and is impressive. In the spring there is new growth springing from the river’s bottom, especially near the source, and in the fall, many spectacular wild-floral bouquets adorn the shore in full bloom. On occasion, some paddlers have made it almost to route 28, but this not easy and the final stages are often blocked with debris. There is always a rich assortment of birds - great blues, swans, osprey and many kingfishers. Oh, and let’s not forget the ever present Canada Geese!

Another option for lunch would be the beach at Crocker’s Neck Conservation Area due east of Gooseberry Island. After lunch at whatever site chosen, there are always the options of heading back to the put in or exploring a marsh area accessed through Pinquickset Cove, which is just adjacent to Crocker’s Neck. Much of this excursion boarders the pristine Town of Barnstable Conservation Area and in the spring, when marsh growth is just getting started, the vista is quite open. At high tide, travel up and around several little estuaries far into the marsh and almost to the Crocker’s Neck shore is fairly easy and again, many birds can be seen.

Now it is definitely back to the put in. In the fall sizeable fish are jumping and sometimes thump into the hulls of the boats. When the put in is finally within sight, if the tide is fairly high and paddlers are up for even more, they can proceed to the north end of Shoestring Bay, paddle under the School Street Bridge and explore the Santuit River. Most of this area is very undeveloped and there is usually lots of wildlife here. It is here in the spring that herring make their way from Popponesset Bay to the upper reaches of the river to spawn. Unfortunately many become snacks for hungry gulls and osprey (they have to eat too!), but the good news is that the herring counts here in the last couple of years are way up. Spring is a good time for this area because the views are not obstructed by tall growth, but in the fall, there are plenty of wild flowers to admire. This is a great side trip, but very serious caution is advised, since the water can run out quickly and it is easy to be stuck aground if the tides are marginal when you begin this part of the trip. On the other side of the coin, if the tide is too high, the underside of the bridge will be impassible going both in and out, so good planning is imperative. One possibility is to make this side trip at the very beginning of the day to take advantage of a perfect tide. Unfortunately, I can’t tell you what “perfect” is.

This trip may be short and sweet or extremely long, especially if all the options are taken. On September 21, Nancy Wigley will be running a trip to the Mashpee River, specifically to showcase the lovely autumn wild flowers there. I will be leading a trip there in August and you can take it to the bank I won’t be exercising all my options!
A tribute to Pam Carter

“Pam took a walk along a stream, and touched the bark on the trees to feel the texture. And she felt the pine needles. As always, she was close to nature. After awhile she got tired and sat on a rock, and realized she had gone too far and would never get back home. The Lord spoke to her and said what a great life she had, and she told the Lord she’d never get home. The Lord told he that his house was closer, and took her hand... “

Recent Blue Hills “Intro” Hike Earns Rave Reviews

By Paul Miller, SEM Vice Hiking Chair

Most regular readers of the Southeast Breeze newsletter are well aware that we’re big on “series” hikes in the SEM Hiking Committee. Our Red Line the Blue Hills, Thursday Morning, Full Moon, and Winter hiking series have all become very popular; with 20 or more participants often showing up for hikes, in addition to the hike leaders.

Not quite two years ago, we also launched our “Intro to AMC Hiking” series of local hikes in an attempt to get more SEM members out on the trails to enjoy the fun, camaraderie, and great exercise of our chapter hikes. For reasons that largely evade your Hiking Committee, participation in this series still has not achieved what we consider to be “critical mass.” While several of the local intro hikes have attracted as many as ten or so participants, others have attracted only a handful. But based on the success of several recent intro hikes, this appears to be changing for the better.

In one example, Jim Casey and I planned and led an Intro Series hike in Blue Hills on June 15 that drew five other participants (with a sixth person cancelling at the last minute with apologies due to illness...). Three participants had never hiked with the AMC before. Another participant’s last AMC hike (an intro-level backpacking trip with another chapter) had been less than enjoyable due largely to horrendous weather and possibly in part to an overly-ambitious agenda.

While there’s certainly no shortage of great hiking to be had in the Blue Hills, Jim and I took quite a bit of time studying the DCR Blue Hills Reservation topo map to put together a loop hike that would include interesting and varied terrain and some nice views to entice participants to come back for more; but would not be so challenging that participants would feel like they’re in “over their heads.”

We ultimately decided on a modest, approximately 3.5-mile loop hike that started at the Chickatawbut Overlook, followed the Cedar Rock Path to the Headquarters Path, and then continued on to the Indian Trail Path, which eventually led around to the Skyline Trail. From here, we jogged east for a short stretch to climb and enjoy the views from Rattlesnake Hill before doubling back on the Skyline to Wompatuck Hill, where we stopped for a quick bite to eat before continuing around on the Skyline. After several more short “ups and downs,” this eventually led us to the Chickatawbut Tower loop that brought us back to our starting point.

It was a real pleasure for both Jim and I to have the opportunity share our enjoy... ment of and enthusiasm for hiking with this wonderful, if small group of largely novice hikers. Based on their feedback during the hike, it was clear that everyone had a very positive experience, so we asked all to send us some comments that we could include in this write up.

Here’s what one woman hiker wrote: “Thank you, Paul! Our Skyline Trail hike in the Blue Hills has renewed my faith in AMC-run trips! After a particularly traumatizing beginner experience the previous weekend, I got up on the horse again by trying out ‘just one more AMC hike.’ I can’t thank you enough for the great experience, beginner pace, help along the way, and the great views atop Rattlesnake Hill! I feel better about signing up for more trips and treks with the AMC – and only have great things to say about the SEM Chapter! Thank you, thank you!”

Another woman wrote: “Hi Paul! It was great meeting you and Jim on Saturday. It was our first hike with the AMC and we loved it. The weather was beautiful. Our hiking companions were friendly and eager to hike. We only live about 15 minutes from where we hiked and I can’t believe we have not hiked it before. To kick off the day seeing the deer and then later on seeing the hummingbird on top of Rattlesnake Hill were the highlights for me. We also enjoyed some of the interesting hiking facts that you and Jim shared with us and your stories of past hikes that you have done with AMC. Looking forward to the next hike! Thanks so much for sharing the day with us!”

Doesn’t sound like it was too painful an experience, does it? So, if you’re one of the many SEM chapter members who have been sitting around thinking about coming out and joining us for a hike, but needed just a little more motivation to actually do so, what are you waiting for?

To check out some of the upcoming chapter hikes, just click >>. And keep in mind that if you’re ever not sure whether a particular hike (or any other chapter activity) is appropriate for you, just contact the leader to discuss. He or she will always be glad to point you in the right direction!
Blue Hills garter snake with death grip on toad

June 4, 2013

On a recent morning in the Blue Hills, we happened across this sight right next to the trail, a garter snake just getting started on his breakfast! The poor toad was still very much alive — we could see his throat pouch pulsating, and occasionally his front legs trying to get some traction — not that it would get him anywhere!

We felt sorry for the toad, of course, but also admired the snake’s successful hunt! We hung around for a while to see how the big fat toad was going to get inside the skinny snake, but after 10 minutes or so of not much progress, we continued on our way!

What Is On Your Summer Reading List?

By Gina Hurley

As we enjoy the long days of summer, I hope you are getting some good reading in. There are so many wonderful books out there, and many in the Outdoor Adventure category. Whether you are looking for true adventure stories, informational guides, nature stories, or anything in between, there is a plethora to choose from. Here are some from my collection that you might want to pick up.

Long Distance Hiking: If you are considering a long distance hike, there are many guides available to help you plan your trip.

The Long Distance Hiking: If you are considering a long distance hike, there are many guides available to help you plan your trip. Schlimer reviews and describes 25 trails, ranging from 95 to 1,300 miles long. Once you settle on a trail, there is usually a guide book to help you with planning your trip. One such guide is the Long Trail Guide (Green Mountain Club), which provides a wealth of information about this trail. Not only does this guide provide the reader with maps, trail profile, and trail description, it also provides information regarding wildlife, water, camping sites, permits, and safety. Want to head to Mount Rainer and hike the Wonderland Trail? Pick up a copy of Bette Filley’s Discovering the Wonders of the Wonderland Trail: Encircling Mount Rainer. Filley provides detailed information about the mountain, the trail, and all the rules and procedures of hiking this trail.

Of course, some of you might be thinking of hiking the Appalachian Trail.

If so, there are many books to read about the AT. One personal account is Robert Alden Rubin’s On the Beaten Path: An Appalachian Pilgrimage. In it Rubin recounts his journey, highlighting the people and the landscapes along the way. Walking the Appalachian Trail, by Larry Luxenberg, offers insight into why so many people chose to hike the AT. Luxenberg profiles many AT hikers in his book, providing a flavor of the different people and experiences along the way.

True Adventure Stories: Looking for an exciting true story to keep your blood pumping?

One of the best true survival stories is Touching the Void by Joe Simpson. Simpson and his climbing partner, Simon Yates, were climbing a 21,000 foot peak in the Andes when an accident changed their lives forever. Recounting the days on the mountain is an epic tale that will keep you on the edge of your seat the whole time. Want to read a tale of survival at sea? Fatal Forecast, by Michael J. Tougas, describes the 1980 fishing trip of two vessels headed to George’s Bank. When the weather turns up sixty-foot waves and hurricane-force winds, fishing turns to survival. Although stories of survival are always amazing, The Grizzly Maze, by Nick Jans, is not a story of survival, but a story of a fatal obsession with grizzly bears. The book takes you through the life and death of Timothy Treadwell and his many, and final, interactions with these aggressive animals.

Alaska: The 49th state has had many books written about it, especially books about travel and the Alaskan outdoors.

A l a s k a On Foot, by Erik Molvar, is a resource guide for hikers headed into the backcountry. Molvar covers route selection, mapping and navigation, wildlife, and other components of planning an Alaskan trip. One Man’s Wilderness, by Sam Keith and Richard Proenneke, recounts Proenneke’s journey to Alaska and settlement in the wilderness. His simple account of his daily activities, exploration, and encounters with nature, coupled with great photography, make this book a must-read.

Of course a book collection about Alaska is not complete without a book on the Iditarod.

Gary Paulsen’s Winterdance is his story of running this famous 1,180 mile dog sled race. Although all of these books about Alaska are great, one of the best is Arctic Homestead by Norma Cobb and Charles Sasser. In 1973, Norma Cobb, her husband Lester, and their five children, headed north to Alaska to follow their dream of claiming land under the Homestead Act. They settled near the Arctic Circle, where they encountered fierce winters, grizzly bears, and many other obstacles that would have turned most families away. Their story is one of true amazement.

Summer is a time to relax and enjoy the great outdoors. While you are doing so bring along one of these great reads. You will be glad you did!
October 18-20
During the peak of the fall foliage
Activities include full and half-day hikes ranging from easy to hard, paddling trips, biking available throughout the camp roads (bikes and helmets available) or bring your own bike for a road or mountain bike ride. Horseback riding, plus canoe and boat rentals on the lake. For those over the age of 12, try the ropes course, zip line and climbing tower.
Also, tours of the nearby Grey Towers estate (once the home of conservation pioneer Gifford Pinchot, founder of the US Forest Service).
Saturday night join in the barn dancing with live music or relax around the campfire. For the kids and families, there are nature walks through a bog area, making critter creatures, biking (equipment available) for children ages seven and up. Saturday night you will have your own campfire with ghost stories, singing and a hayride.
Board at Camp Speers-Eljabar, a YMCA camp near Dingman's Ferry, PA, with on-site lake and trails. Stay in comfortable heated lodges and cabins, or tent. Family lodging. All meals provided.

Mohican Fall Foliage Special
Come early and hike and play for three days prior to the Fall Gathering. Stay at our southernmost AMC facility, Mohican Outdoor Center, located near Blairstown, NJ, where volunteers will be hosting a Fall Foliage Getaway on October 16-18.
Hike and paddle on the New Jersey side of the Water Gap. Hikes will be led by volunteers, or grab a map and venture out on your own. On Friday, take a scenic 45 minute drive to Camp Speers-Eljabar and the Fall Gathering.
To register for this event (not for the Fall Gathering) online, click here. Or send an e-mail to amclodging@outdoors.org. Or call AMC Reservations at 800-372-1758 Monday to Saturday 9:00 AM - 5:00 PM.
In 2013 August Camp returns to the breathtaking North Cascades of Washington State. We’ll hike in the North Cascades National Park, Mt. Baker-Snoqualmie National Forest, and Ross Lake and Lake Chelan National Recreation areas. Choose from a variety of hikes every day, or add in backpacking, rafting on the Skagit River or kayaking in the San Juan Islands to expand your experience. No matter what you do, you’ll be surrounded by amazing vistas!

Our full service tent village for 64 campers each week offers home-cooked meals, daily hikes at all levels, nightly campfires and wonderful camaraderie. The 2013 campsite is on the banks of the Skagit River, just down the road from Cascadian Farms, known for their organic food and the best ice cream we’ve ever had! Our site is reached by the North Cascades Highway, considered the most scenic drive in Washington State. Our designated airport is Seattle-Tacoma International, and our fleet of vans provides transport between camp and SeaTac on each Saturday.

Registration forms and detailed Camp information can found here. Plan your one or two week adventure now and be part of one of the oldest camps in the AMC.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

We need an “Event Planner” for the AMC SEM Executive Board. Do you have event planning skills? Our events are typically: Annual Meeting/Dinner, Holiday Party, Summer Picnic. Can you find and reserve a room, choose a menu that fits in our budget, worry about a projector and screen, set an agenda, and generally make an event happen? Contact the chapter chair at chair@amcsem.org.

Volunteer Opportunities

Until Filled. Chapter Youth Program (CYP) Leader. Share your outdoor knowledge and leadership skills with local groups of children. Give your time to these programs to help kids get outside who might not otherwise have the opportunity. A typical Chapter Youth Program (CYP) might include a local walk with some nature lesson or trail games. CYP leader training and screening is required. L Sally Delisa (picpocit@verizon.net)

HIKING

IMPORTANT: No pets w/o prior permission of trip leader. Individuals under 18 years of age must be accompanied by a parent or responsible adult, and obtain prior consent from L. Those accompanying a minor are responsible for minor’s actions. Reg. req’d for most hikes, preferably at least 1 week prior to the trip so Ls can discuss prior hiking exp., conditioning, clothing, and equipment. Rating codes (e.g. C4D): first letter indicates distance in mi (AA=13+, A=9-13, B=5-8, C=less than 5 mi), middle number indicates pace (1=very fast, 2=fast, 3=moderate, 4=leisurely), second letter indicates terrain (A=very stren., B=stren., C=average, D=easy)

Always looking for additional hike leaders! Contact hikingchair@amcsem.org
