The Education Committee organizes and promotes training of trip leaders for our chapter. Two fundamental programs, Leadership Training and Wilderness First Aid, are planned and supported every year. Other programs may be offered at the committee’s discretion.

The Vice Chair and Chair share tasks that typically involve the planning, coordination and hosting of training sessions, nominally two or three weekend sessions per year. Presenting training material is not required. Upon expiration of the Chair’s term in office, the Vice Chair normally moves into the Chair’s position.

2014 Leadership Training

Leadership Training will be held on Saturday, May 3, 2014 at Borderland State Park, N. Easton, MA. This course prepares trip leaders for managing groups they will be leading on AMC sanctioned trips. The course covers leadership styles, trip planning considerations, screening criteria to insure similar group member skills, risk mitigation, and qualifications to become a leader. Non-trip leader candidates are also welcome. It is an all day course with a mix of classroom and outdoor exercises. Lunch and refreshment breaks are provided. This course is offered at no cost to chapter members.

Please register by April 19 with Len Ulbricht at lenu44@gmail.com

Leadership Training - Why Take It?

In order to foster safe outdoor recreation enjoyable to all, AMC has for many years offered a variety of training programs - both for personal growth and trip leaders/organizers. The most basic program is Leadership Training. This program covers the essential elements our trip leaders need to understand when organizing, planning and managing groups of hikers, bikers, paddlers, or skiers. It is offered by all AMC chapters to train leaders with a common set of guidelines for situations they will likely face in running an outdoor activity. Anyone wishing to lead trips for our chapter should take this program.

Suppose one is uncertain as to whether or not they want to lead trips. Can they take it? Or how about members new to AMC who are not seeking to lead but want to learn how our organization operates. Can they take it? And there are those members who just wish to participate and not lead. Can they take it?

Yes! Yes! Yes! to all three questions. Leadership Training is for participants, too. You will learn how leaders manage groups, screening considerations leaders undertake and may ask you about to insure group compatibility, how to deal with accidents and AMC liability protections, and ways to personally prepare for your outdoor experience whether it’s hiking, biking, paddling or skiing. You’ll also meet and interact with SEM trip leaders who present course materials. So give LT some thought.
Mt. Pierce Winter Hike Doesn’t Disappoint

by Paul Miller, SEM Hiking Chair

With temperatures frequently in the single digits down here in Massachusetts in the weeks leading up to SEM 2014 Winter Hike #3 on Feb. 1st, I had been a little concerned about the weather and trail conditions we would encounter for Saturday’s trip to 4,300 foot Mt. Pierce in New Hampshire’s Presidential Range. On the Friday before the hike the local weather forecast posted at the AMC Highland Center in beautiful Crawford Notch wasn’t all that encouraging. But rather than the anticipated bitterly cold temperatures, the forecast now called for lots of clouds and unseasonably mild temperatures with the possibility of snow or rain in the afternoon.

But we lucked out once again. When the 16 intrepid SEM winter hikers, many of us who had driven up to Crawford Notch the day before, showed up at the large Crawford Connector parking area off the Mt, Clinton Rd. at 8:45 am on Saturday morning, the sun was shining brightly and the temps in the high 20’s at the trailhead suggested that we would have fine winter weather for our hike. Leaders for this Winter Series hike included myself, Mike Woessner, Wayne Anderson, and Chris and Bill Pellegrini, with Anne Duggan serving as co-leader.

Based on the AMC info desk reports that trail conditions on the Crawford Path were mostly hard-packed snow with several icy spots, we decided to leave our snowshoes in the cars and wear our microspikes to start out. But we also brought our full crampons... because you never know what kind of conditions you’ll encounter along the way.

At the last minute, we also decided to modify our route. Since several people had expressed concern about potentially icy conditions on the steep section of the Webster Cliff Trail between the summit of Pierce and the AMC Mizpah Hut, we decided to do a reverse, The group pauses for a photo op on the summit of Mt. Pierce. That’s Mt. Eisenhower and Mt. Washington in the background. (Mike Woessner photo)

Map & Compass Training Opportunities

A map and compass (M&C) are two of the ten must have essentials for wilderness hiking. (Do you know the other eight.) Key elements of M&C instructional training include basic compass use, correction for magnetic variation, terrain map reading, following a compass course, triangulation and bushwhacking. If M&C is new to you or if you could use a refresher session, consider the following M&C offerings.

March 9, 15 or 22 at Rocky Woods in Medfield. Offered by REI. See http://www.rei.com/outdoorschool/140/programs/23

April 25-27 at Cardigan Lodge in NH. Offered by NH Chapter. See http://activities.outdoors.org/search/index.cfm/action/details/id/72532

May 2-4 at Highland Center in Crawford, Notch NH. Offered by AMC. See http://activities.outdoors.org/search/index.cfm/action/details/id/70838

SEM is offering the Barry Farnsworth Memorial Scholarship for Map & Compass training. This scholarship will help defray the tuition expense for any of the above training opportunities. Contact the Education Chair, Len Ulbricht, at lenu44@gmail.com for further details.
counter-clockwise loop. This involved taking the Crawford Connector to the Crawford Path; heading up the Crawford Path and taking the Mizpah Cutoff on the inbound (rather than outbound) loop, before hitting the summit Pierce via the Webster Cliff Trail from the hut. This would mean we would be climbing up (rather than down) the short, but very steep section of the Webster Cliff Trail to the summit of Pierce. The rationale here, of course, was that it’s usually a safer to scramble up steep icy sections of trail, than slip, slide, and stumble down...

As it turned out, either loop probably would have worked fine on this particular day, but I for one certainly did enjoy the variety of doing the loop in a counter-clockwise direction.

As promised, the snow-packed Crawford Path offered excellent footing and the few icy sections were not difficult to negotiate with our microspikes, which were able to get a grip on the relatively soft ice (this might not have been the case if the temperatures had been colder). We made it up to the Mizpah Cutoff in pretty good time and then followed this up toward the hut. As we got closer to the hut, gaining altitude along the way, the snow got a bit deeper and less consolidated, the temperature dropped, and the trail became even prettier as we passed through the peaceful snow-draped birch forest.

It was only about 11:30 am when we broke out of the trees into the clearing in which the closed-for-the-season Mizpah Hut sits, but it was so sunny and pleasant there that we decided to stop for a quick lunch before negotiating the short (.9-mile), section of the Webster Cliff Trail that leads up to the summit of Pierce.

At this point, I retook the lead, but even at my tortoise-like pace, this section of the trail provided everyone with an excellent cardio workout. One step at a time (in full crampons now), we eventually got up the steep section and arrived at a false summit that offered some wonderful views north toward Mt. Washington, and even across to Jefferson and Adams in the Northern Presis. Very cool!

From this false summit, it was a pretty easy jaunt up through the increasingly smaller trees to the partially exposed (but on this day, virtually windless) summit of Pierce, which added a nice view of the rounded summit of nearby Mt. Eisenhower to the panorama.

After stopping to enjoy the views and take the obligatory summit photos, we changed back into our microspikes, shouldered our packs, and headed down the short remaining stretch of the Webster Cliff Trail to the Crawford Path. The jog back down the Crawford Path was quite enjoyable, since now we had gravity working in our favor and the hard-packed snow was easy on the knees. We didn’t even mind that the predicted clouds had started to fill in, with a clear threat of snow in the air.

We got back to our cars at around 3:30 pm, having completed the 6.6-mile loop hike with app. 2,400 elevation gain in about 6.5 hours. While several lucky hikers had made plans to stay up in Crawford Notch, most of us had to make the long drive back down to Massachusetts. Before doing so, I stopped briefly at the Highland Center to change into street clothes and grab the first of several cups of coffee for the drive.
Meet the SEM Executive Board

The executive board is a group of people that work for you, the membership! Although we are all volunteers, we are serious about our work, and love the outdoors! We thought it would be good for you to know a little bit about us, so we posed these 5 questions to the executive board. We would also like to learn more about you. If you would like to share your answers to questions 3, 4, and 5 in an upcoming Breeze newsletter, please email the communications chair communicationschair@amcsem.org. We will highlight a member or two each month.

1. Name and position on the executive board?
2. How long have you been on the executive board?
3. How long have you been an AMC member?
4. What is your favorite outdoor activity?
5. What is your dream outdoor adventure?

Cheryl Lathrop, Chapter Chair
Executive Board: 7 years
AMC member: Since 2005
Favorite activity: Hiking (and the more in the wilderness, the better!)
Dream adventure: I think I have already had my ‘adventure’. Years ago I was skiing at Wachusett, and a blizzard arrived. Most people left the mountain, but they didn’t close it! My kids and I kept on skiing. It was wild and primal, and I loved it. Another time, I was on an AMC hike. When we were on the top of the mountain, some weather blew in. Obviously we started our descent, but there for our first half a mile, it was wild and primal. Wild wind, trees swaying. Clearly I love wild primal weather, but only as long as I am safe. (Yes, I love roller coasters!)

My future dream is to have a mild adventure every day-- to retire in NH, and live near/in the mountains. And, instead of my daily walk around town for exercise, to bop up a mountain every morning. And to do this as long as I am vertical!

Maureen Kelly, Vice Chair
Executive Board: 2.5 years
AMC member: 9 years
Favorite activity: It’s very hard to pick one favorite outdoor activity; I just love to be outdoors. Some of my favorite outdoor things are: hiking to a summit with a view; every time I feel like I am on top of the world being on the wa-

Explore the Bay Circuit Trail

One of Boston’s premier recreation destinations, with AMC.

The 200-mile trail stretches around Boston from Newburyport all the way to Duxbury!

First proposed in 1929 by Benton MacKaye and Charles Eliot II, the Bay Circuit Trail and Greenway is a 200-mile outer “emerald necklace” linking 57 Boston area communities in Eastern Massachusetts and providing open space and recreational opportunities to metropolitan Boston.

Join AMC Staff on monthly hikes to explore and learn about different sections of the trail. We will meet at the designated trailhead 15 minutes prior to the start of each hike. Each hike will be two hours long with little elevation gain. Be prepared to be walking for the full two hours as there is limited time for breaks. Also be sure to bring snacks, water, and wear proper hiking gear. Hike locations may be subject to change depending on weather conditions and response.

Specific trailhead locations and directions will be sent to you after you register, along with information about hike difficulty.
